Program Overview

All Residential Reentry Programs use the cognitive behavioral treatment model, incorporating the approach into individual and/or group sessions, group education, didactic and systematic approaches, and behavior management system and milieu management. All residents are provided with assessment to determine their programming needs, case management throughout their program stay, referrals to community providers for services not offered in-house, and aftercare development.

The length of stay is based upon the individual resident's risk level and identified needs, as well as their compliance with program expectations. The average length of stay is approximately three (3) months. Those with higher risk levels and needs might be in the program for up to five (5) months.

Core group offerings address criminogenic needs, using social skill building, cognitive restructuring, problem solving skills in groups such as Thinking for a Change, Advanced Practice, Employment Readiness, Anger Management, treatment for substance abuse and treatment for sexual offending behaviors.

All Cincinnati and Dayton Residential Programs are certified by the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction's Bureau of Community Sanctions (BCS), the American Correctional Association (ACA), and the Ohio Mental Health and Addiction Services (OhioMHAS).

Aftercare is an outpatient curriculum offered for 4.5 hours per week, lasting six (6) weeks. The goal is for all high risk offenders needing additional services, which meets their Post Release Control (PRC) or Community Control Plans.
