RE-ENTRY STRATEGY

We focus on future needs months before release.

Returning to the community from prison is a complex transition for most incarcerated individuals, as well as for their families and communities (https://nij.ojp.gov/topics/articles/overview-reentry).

When we take the time to talk about an individual’s specific needs, goals, and potential barriers. Being proactive can instill hope and allow for invaluable connections to occur before the person steps out the door.
